

MARIJUANA:

Get the Facts

Natural, but not harmless.

- Marijuana use contributes to health problems
- It is four times stronger than in the 1980s
- It is risky no matter how you use it (smoking, vaporizing, or edibles [food containing marijuana])
- Heavy use in young adults can cause lasting damage to the brain and decrease intelligence
- Marijuana can directly worsen symptoms of anxiety, depression, and schizophrenia

Marijuana can be addictive.

- Marijuana use can lead to addiction, just like with other drugs
- 4.5 million people in the U.S. are addicted
- The chances of addiction are increased in adolescents (17%) and people who use every day (25-50%)
- Withdrawal symptoms include cravings, trouble sleeping, anxiety, and appetite loss

Marijuana use impairs driving.

- Using marijuana doubles a driver's risk of an accident
- Using marijuana with alcohol increases the risk of an accident

Legal does not mean safer.

- Marijuana is not FDA-approved
- There may be some chemicals in marijuana that help a range of illnesses or symptoms, but there is not enough research that shows marijuana's benefits
- The benefits do not outweigh the health risks

Marijuana and pregnancy.

- Marijuana use during pregnancy affects child development
- Health risks for the child include low birth weight; premature birth; problems with attention, memory, and problem solving; and reduced IQ

Using marijuana with other substances.

- Mixing marijuana and alcohol increases risk for nausea and reactions of panic, anxiety, or paranoia
- People who smoke both marijuana and tobacco have more health problems
- Mixing tobacco and marijuana increases risk of developing respiratory diseases and/or cancer

Tips for Cutting Back

Think about changing.

- Why do you use? What do you like about it?
- Why do you want to cut down or stop?

Plan for the change you want.

- Set a goal and date for changing your use. Make it realistic.
- Share your plan with people you trust and ask for support.

Act on your decision.

- Distract and do something. Make a list of fun activities (not related to your marijuana use) and keep busy.
- Delay. Stop and think before using. Wait 15 minutes to ride the craving, and the wave of desire may pass.
- Plan ahead. Avoid high-risk situations and people who use.

Have a back-up plan.

- If you haven't achieved your goal yet, that's okay.
- Consider the situation in which you used and see what could be changed next time.
- Review your plan and see if it needs revising.
